HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES AT POCO LOUNGE KING'S LYNN

POCO LOUNGE KING'S LYNN
DENY FREEDOM OF SPEECH
CONDONE HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES
CONDONE MISCARRIAGES OF JUSTICE
SUPPORT CHILD ABUSE

For the past three weeks, the POCO Lounge in King's Lynn High Street had carried posters advertising a book signing session and talk on Sunday 19th. The talk was to be about the famous Tony Martin murder. The book proves – on the Police's own evidence (hidden up for 25 years) – that Tony Martin actually hit nobody on the night he was forced to fire his gun when being invaded. He wasn't burgled either. That narrative – sold to 65 million gullible British people – was entirely fictitious and created to hide the real killers of Fred Barras.

On Tuesday, Brian bought his usual pot of tea and the manager, Awe, (pronounced Ava) asked Brian to stand next to a poster advertising the talk so that she could take his picture and put it on the POCO Lounge Facebook page. In that very moment, Brian knew exactly what would happen. He had been set up to have his picture taken because, as soon as it was uploaded to FB, some "helpful" person (think undercover cop/ MI5 spook trying to cover up the child abuse Brian reported in Lambeth) contacted the Lounge to say that the speaker was on Police Bail and a "very naughty man" where children were concerned. Awe claimed that she was not on duty when the information came through but a Deputy Manager. The Deputy Manager sadly lacked the intelligence to fact check anything or to record the details of the person telling him/her this information and had a bit of a meltdown and removed all the advertising material without ever consulting the Speaker – (the Secret Investigator). The restaurant had his number. Then the manager shows all the other Staff and, united in their horror, decide that the Secret Investigator must be banned from the restaurant. George Orwell wisely called it "Groupthink". Not one person apparently had the common sense to ask "Hang on a minute, this guy is a secret investigator who found out the truth about the Tony Martin case, so what else has he got to say about Police corruption and could it be the Police trying to shut him up by making false allegations and internet posts about him?" Nope, no critical thinking apparently took place. Just mindless idiots paid to sell food and drinks and not think while they're doing it.

But it gets worse, because Deputy Manager then defames the Secret Investigator by calling the Plot Twist further down the High Street. The Plot Twist is a very small café/ second hand bookshop. The manager there, Laura, felt bullied into cancelling the talk too. Again, no consultation.

Thus the POCO Lounge will now find itself the subject of a law suit because of the unilateral action, loss of earnings and defamation. After all, what kind of idiot do you have to be to call another shop (which is not part of your Group) and spread DISinformation when you haven't even checked the true facts or even spoken with the person concerned?

The "Family Friendly" restaurant has shown itself to condone child abuse and the human rights abuses of those who investigate it. (See the book from hillsborough to lambeth – available on Amazon)

Please take to Trip Advisor to get the Truth out there.
